

To view this email as a web page, go here.

E-NEWSLETTER

Faculty News

- SPGS professor Kenneth Abbott has been appointed the Karl Deutsch Visiting Professor at the WZB in Berlin next year. The WZB has a research group on global governance, which is starting a project on conflicts and other interactions among international institutions. That project will involve lawyers as well as international relations scholars.
- SPGS professor Paul Lewis was recently quoted in an article in The Atlantic titled: "Atlanta's Controversial 'Cityhood' Movement"
- SPGS professor Sheldon Simon has an article scheduled for publication in the May issue of Comparative Connections titled "US-Southeast Asian Relations: Mixed Messages".
- SPGS grad and now PhD student at CEU was recently quoted in The New York Times article: "At Hungary's Soros-Backed University, Scholars Feel a Chill".

College of Liberal Arts and Sciences acknowledges spring 2017 Dean's Medalists

SPGS is proud to announce that Politics Science major Jorge Coss Ortega will be receiving a

Dean's Medal from ASU's College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

"Jorge embodies the core tenets of the school insofar as his academic work and personal life engages political phenomena within social contexts," said Richard Herrera, associate director of the School of Politics and Global Studies. "He is the total package, and we are proud to have him represent the school."

Read more.

ASU grad student's thesis inspired by Arizona Legislative Internship

Jennifer Kahn is graduating this May with a degree in political science as part of ASU's 4+1 program. She was recently awarded the Warren E. Miller Research Paper Award from the School of Politics and Global Studies for her master's thesis.

"I was interested in this research because I enjoy reading research on the gender differences in legislative and executive campaigns, but realized there was very little research done on the judiciary, so I decided to combine my interest in law with my interest in gender differences and conduct this study."

Read more.

Inspired to lean in, Barrett Outstanding Graduate wins Marshall Scholarship

Erin Schulte is graduating with a degree in global studies from the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and honors from Barrett, The Honors College. Highlighted in an interview with ASU Now, Schulte talks about her time at ASU and her plans after graduation. Read here.

College of Liberal Arts and Sciences awards recognize exceptional ASU faculty members

ASU's College of Liberal Arts and Sciences has recognized Charles Ripley with the Outstanding Lecturer Award for 2017.

"Ripley has not only given me an unparalleled drive to understand different research and theories, but he has pushed me to understand that I have the capability to implement what I have learned in the real world and as a career." said Destinee Sior, a global studies major. "He is one of the most influential professors I have ever had the chance of meeting."

Read more.

The School of Politics and Global Studies is an academic unit of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

Support the School

Facebook

Twitter

YouTube

Instagram