

To view this email as a web page, go here.

Faculty News

- SPGS associate professor Mark Ramirez has been selected as a winner for the 2018 Adaljiza Sosa-Riddell Mentoring Award from the American Political Science Association.
- SPGS foundation professor Michael Hechter co-published "Threat, Deterrence, and Penal Severity: An Analysis of Flogging in the Royal Navy, 1740–1820" in Social Science History (Fall 2018), Volume 42, Issue 3.
- SPGS professor Carolyn Warner discussed "Why it's so hard to hold priests accountable for sex abuse" in The Conversation.
- SPGS professor Keith Brown discussed "Vladimir Putin's lying game" in The Conversation.
- SPGS instructor Daniel Pout discussed "A socialist's primary win doesn't herald a workers revolution in the US" in The Conversation.
- SPGS professor or practice Robert Schmidle addressed cyberethics during the final lecture of the Chautauqua Women's Club's 2018 Contemporary Issues Forum series, "Ethics in the Age of Cyber," on Aug. 25th.

ASU welcomes first graduates of new online master's program

In 2017, Arizona State University's School of Politics and Global Studies, with the Center on the Future of War, launched an online master's degree program in global security and now, one year later, the program is celebrating its first graduating class.

"There are few, if any, online programs that can offer the experience to take part in applying theory and coursework you learned to problems that government or private industries have asked for your input on," said DJ Gering, a graduate of the program.

Read more.

---

Pamela DeLargy joins ASU as adviser on international development initiatives

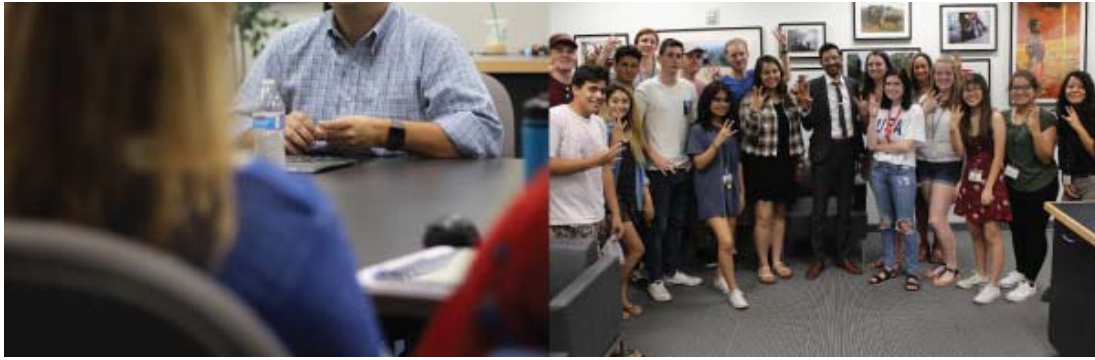

Arizona State University has announced that Pamela DeLargy has been recruited as Professor of Practice in the School of Politics and Global Studies and will also serve as senior adviser on International Development Initiatives in the Office of the President.

"Getting to know ASU has been a true pleasure for me," DeLargy said. "It is exciting to be at an institution where all good ideas — even unconventional ones — are encouraged. The combination of expertise and innovation at ASU can make a big contribution to solving serious global problems and to improving the lives of people who are often forgotten."

Read more.

---

ASU alumni share career experiences with incoming freshmen

This year's group of Arizona State University freshmen participating in the Early Start Program within the School of Politics and Global Studies got some guidance from two alumni who serve on the school's Alumni Advisory Board, who spoke to the students about their career paths.

Read more.

---

ASU student excels in honors classes while lobbying for motorcyclists' rights

Through his work as a lobbyist for a motorcyclist rights organization, 56 year old John Dreyfus, an honors student studying philosophy and political science, has met politicians on both sides of the aisle.

"My life has never really been easy, so I've always had to surmount difficulties to get anything done that I wanted to get done," said Dreyfus who is a Barrett, The Honors College at ASU student.

Read more.

---

Upcoming events

---

Amor, Que Piensas?
Spousal Political Socialization

September 20th

ASU Center for Latina/os and American Politics Research
Arizona State University

---

6:00pm September 18th, 2018
MU, Pima Auditorium Room 230

The School of Politics and Global Studies is an academic unit of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

Support the School

Facebook

Twitter

YouTube

Instagram

This email was sent to: moxford@asu.edu

This email was sent by: ASU School of Politics and Global Studies
P.O. Box 873902 Tempe, AZ, 85287-3902 USA

Go here to leave this mailing list or modify your email profile.
We respect your right to privacy. View our policy.