

Graduate Degrees

Events and Lectures

Connect with us

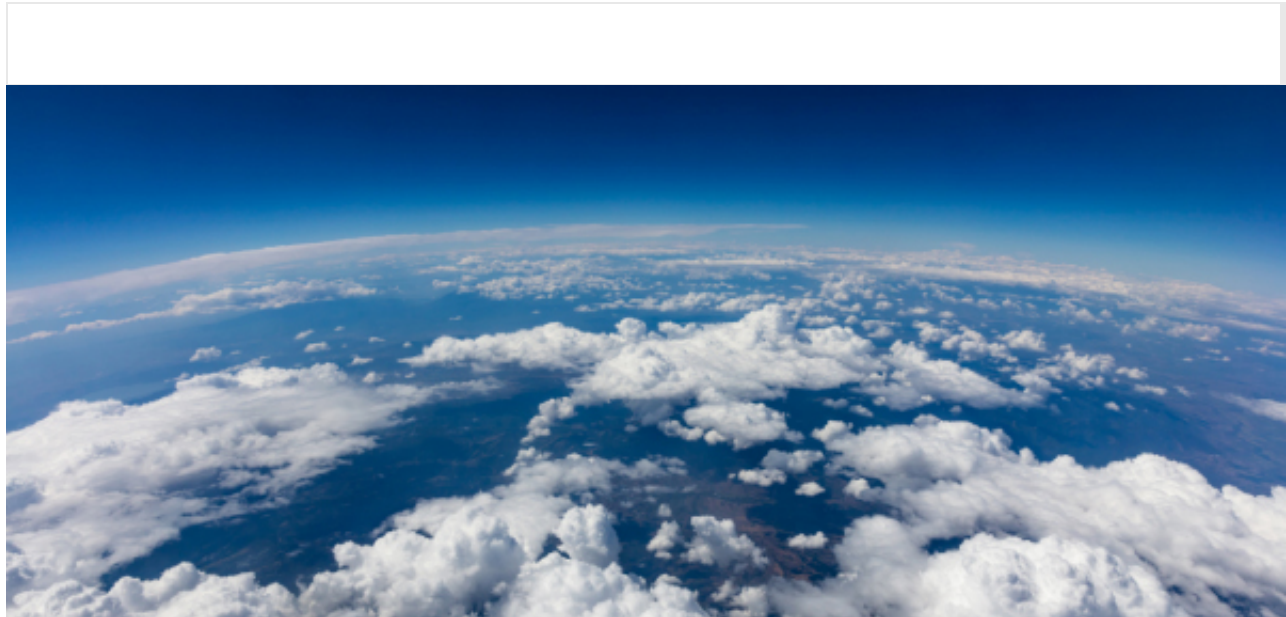

Newly dedicated Roskind Great Hall honors donors' ongoing commitment

Since 1997, School of Politics and Global Studies Advisory Board members Herb and Laura Roskind have been a part of the Arizona State University community in myriad ways.

In recognition of their ongoing commitment to student success, The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences dedicated the Great Hall in Armstrong Hall on the Tempe campus in their name on April 20th.

Read More

Climate activism at The College

In honor of Earth Month, The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences highlighted work throughout its academic units – including School of Politics and Global Studies professors Valerie Mueller and Glenn Sheriff - that addresses climate change from multiple perspectives.

Read More

ASU global studies alum aspires to cultivate change

After graduating from Arizona State University in 2017 with a Bachelor of Arts in global studies, Alex Thien, sought to utilize his passions in international affairs and language to cultivate change.

Now, Thien is fulfilling those aspirations while in Washington, D.C., through his current position in the U.S. Department of State's Office of Science and Technology Cooperation.

Read More

ASU honors student selected for 2022 Henry Clay Center College Student Congress

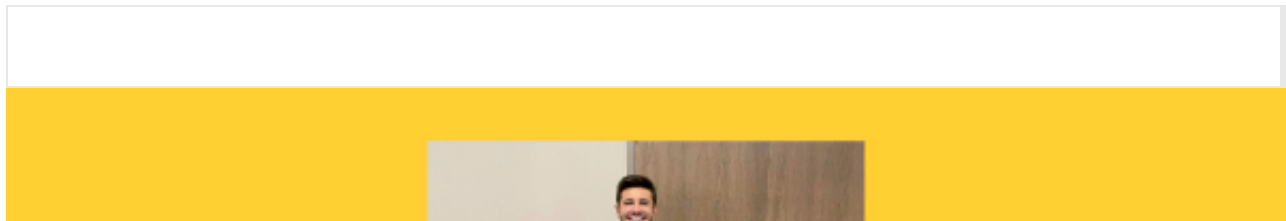

Anusha Natarajan, a third-year student in The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and Barrett, The Honors College at ASU, has been selected for the Henry Clay Center College Student Congress, a two-week summer program for undergraduates interested in public policy, politics, diplomacy and modern leadership.

The program selects just one student per state, so Natarajan, a sociology, history and political science major, will not only represent ASU, but the entire Copper State.

Read More

Crafting a winning narrative during modern war

ASU News spoke with Peter Singer, Professor of Practice at the School of Politics and Global Studies and the Center on the Future of War, about the effective weaponization of social media and how Ukraine has mastered the art of online propaganda and is beating Russia at its own game.

Read More

ASU student pursues leadership opportunities

Between internships and serving as president of the Interfraternity Council, Nicolas Khonaysser, a double major in political science and communications from The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, is dedicated to getting the most out of his college experience.

Read More

Many of the school's faculty have been responding publicly to Russia's invasion of Ukraine:

Professor of Practice Daniel Rothenberg published the opinion article "Why the US should investigate Russian aggression in Ukraine as genocide" with CNN and was on CNN Newsroom with Fredricka Whitefield to discuss genocide and the Ukraine conflict.

Professor of Practice Candace Rondeaux published the article "Putin's Oligarchs Are Finally Facing a Reckoning" in World Politics Review.

Professor of Practice Peter Singer co-published the article "What Is China Learning from the Ukraine War?" with Defense One.

Associate Professor Victor Peskin was a guest on the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation Day 6 Radio Show to discuss "what the quest for justice in Darfur says about the possibility of war crimes charges against Vladimir Putin."

Professor of Practice Candace Rondeaux was a guest on the Vox podcast, Today, Explained for the episode "Russia's mercenary army."

Professor of Practice Matthew Cavanaugh published the op-ed "How does the war in Ukraine end?" in The Los Angeles Times.

Professor of Practice Candace Rondeaux was a guest on the Defense One podcast episode titled "Putin's long war."

Professor of Practice Daniel Rothenberg was a guest on KTAR News for the segment "Think Tank considers whether negotiation is possible between Ukraine, Russia."

Professor of Practice Candace Rondeaux was interviewed for the "War in Ukraine: How Russia is recruiting mercenaries" on BBC News.

Other news

Associate Professor Timothy Peterson's co-authored article "US Sanctions and Foreign Lobbying of the US Government" was accepted for publication in Political Research Quarterly.

Assistant Professor Fabian Neuner and collaborators received a grant from the Russell Sage Foundation for their project Reducing Racial Polarization in Reactions to Police Use of Force: Identifying Mechanisms and Testing Interventions.

On April 7, Director Magda Hinojosa was a virtual panelist for the "Women's Political Representation in Latin America" webinar. The discussion was organized by RepresentWomen and LatinasRepresent.

Craig Calhoun participated in the keynote discussion and a round-table discussion at the International conference on "The Fragility of Democracy: Rescuing Dialogue and Deliberation" jointly organized by Reset DOC and the Fondation Maison des Sciences de l'Homme which took place in Paris, France, on Thursday March 17, 2022.

Professor of Practice Candace Rondeaux published the article "The World Has Forgotten Afghanistan. Afghan Refugees Can't" in World Politics Review.

Director Magda Hinojosa published a short invited commentary on March 23 in the Latin America Advisor, a publication of the Inter-American Dialogue, on "What More Should Mexico Do to Deter Gender Violence?"

Craig Calhoun moderated a discussion on "Citizens' Assemblies" on April 6, 2022 at the "Restoring Trust" program held by the Thomas Mann House in Pacific Palisades, CA .

On April 19-20, 2022, Craig Calhoun spoke on the "Religions, Secularisms and Public Spheres" panel of the "A Quarter Century of Public Religions" conference at the Berkley Center for Religion, Peace and World Affairs at Georgetown University in Washington, DC.

Professor of Practice Peter Singer was a guest on the American Bar Association's Law Student Podcast episode titled "Understanding the Weaponization of Social Media" and the Voices of War podcast to discuss Ukrainian information warfare.

Rozina Ali, who is a partner in Anand Gopal and Daniel Rothenberg's Institute for Humanities Research grant, was awarded a 2022-2023 Cullman Fellowship.

Assistant Professor Angie Bautista-Chavez will participate in "The Anti-Refugee Machine: A New Framework for Migration Studies" workshop in the United Arab Emirates in fall 2022 as part of a grant awarded to Tricia Redeker-Hepner The Wenner-Gren Foundation for Anthropological Research.

Watch recent event recordings

ASU School of Politics
and Global Studies
Arizona State University

Robert E. Bedeski
Emeritus Professor
University of Victoria

The School of Politics and Global Studies hosted a talk and discussion with Robert E. Bedeski, Emeritus Professor with the University of Victoria.

Watch

ASU School of Politics
and Global Studies
Arizona State University

Beth Leech
Professor
Rutgers University

The School of Politics and Global Studies held a talk and discussion with Beth L. Leech, professor of political science at Rutgers University.

Watch

The Unraveling of Everything: America's Violent and Extremist Drift

Janet Reitman

The Center on the Future of War hosted Janet Reitman, ASU Future Security Fellow at New America, for a talk on "The Unraveling of Everything: America's Violent and Extremist Drift."

Courts and Cops: Judicial Decisions and the Excessive Use of Force

ASU School of Politics
and Global Studies
Arizona State University

Courtenay Conrad
Associate Professor
University of California, Merced

The School of Politics and Global Studies hosted Courtenay Conrad, Associate Professor at the University of California, Merced, for a talk discussing the effect of judicial decisions on the use of force by U.S.

Watch

police officers.

Watch

Support the School

An academic unit of The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

#1 in the U.S. for innovation
ASU ahead of MIT and Stanford
U.S. News & World Report, 9 years, 2010-2021

This email was sent to moxford@asu.edu.

To ensure future delivery, please add spgs@reply.asu.edu to your safe sender list or address book.

Forward to a friend | Update Profile | Unsubscribe | View this email online

This email was sent by: ASU School of Politics and Global Studies
P.O. Box 873902 Tempe AZ 85287-3902, USA