

Edwin Rodriguez

Edwin is a senior in Arizona State University's W.P. Carey, the School of Business where he is pursuing a Bachelors of Science in Finance, with a minor in Public Service and Public Policy and a Certificate in Applied Business Data Analytics. Edwin is currently finishing a collaborative internship alongside ASU, the Government Finance Officers Association of Arizona and the Valley Benchmark Communities where he helped to create a resource of governmental financial data that local cities and counties will be able to access and refer to. He also has been involved with ASU's Hispanic Business Student Association and interned with SolarSPELL at ASU. He has a passion for public service and hopes to use his analytical skills and education to help make government more accountable and efficient for everyone.

Loren Smith

Loren is a passionate and dedicated senior from Dayton, Ohio, is committed to fostering equity, collaboration, and cultural diversity in the realms of social justice and entrepreneurship. Majoring in Political Science with a minor in Urban Planning, Loren aspires to create impactful policies that advance equity for historically disadvantaged groups. Her vision includes attending law school to become a legal strategist and advocate for social impact, providing vital support to PACT organizations, and working tirelessly to build a fair and inclusive society where everyone has equal opportunities to thrive.

Andrew Cooper

Andrew is a junior from Peoria, Arizona studying at Barrett, the Honors College at Arizona State University. He is pursuing a B.S. degree in Political Science. A National Hispanic Recognition awardee, Andrew has committed himself to his academics, as well as serving his community through volunteering at various nonprofit organizations, including food banks, thrift stores, and a local church. In his free time, he likes to participate in recreational sports, play the piano, and travel to new places. He has recently committed to study abroad at the National University of Singapore during the Spring 2024 semester. Though for now, Andrew is excited to work and study in Washington D.C, especially as he pursues his goal of going to law school and receiving a Juris Doctor degree.

Lolahon Hamidova

Lolahon is a senior studying at Barrett, The Honors College at Arizona State University. She is majoring in Political Science. At ASU, she is a mentor at the Global Resolve Trinidad and Tobago team working with a local NGO to help with reforestation and fire prevention efforts and bringing visibility to a fire policy proposal. She is also a mentor at ASU ARCS (Arizona Refugee College Success) in which she helps refugee students with college applications and essays. Outside of school, Lola has interned with IRC (International Rescue Committee) and she has volunteered for a local hospital and is a regular volunteer at the local food bank. Lola has a passion for human rights and helping displaced people around the world and she hopes that one day, she can work with the different organizations around the world to help refugees and immigrants.

Ethan Pelland

Ethan is a senior studying global politics and data analytics at Arizona State University (ASU). He is president of ASU's Alexander Hamilton Society, a student journalist at ASU's Blaze Radio. His focus is civil-military relations, democratization and military affairs in Brazil and the Southern Cone. He will be interning at the McCain Institute with the Democracy and Human Rights Office.

Jovana Vinčić

Jovana is a senior at Barrett, the Honors College at Arizona State University, pursuing Peace Studies with an emphasis on Social and Cultural Analysis. Jovana is a first-generation college student, a recipient of the All-USA Scholarship, and a member of the Coca-Cola Academic Team. At ASU, Jovana was an undergraduate research assistant for the Barrett assisting Archaeology faculty, awarded the Gilman scholarship issued by the Department of State for an international internship, a volunteer for the office of Recruitment at Barrett, a member of Omicron Delta Kappa and The National Society of Leadership and Success, and volunteer for West Valley Forward event. She was an intern for the Central Asia Research Institute on Corruption and Money Laundering in Kyrgyzstan throughout the ASU World Innovators Internship/Study Abroad program. Jovana enjoys spending time with her sister, reading books related to diplomacy, law, and human rights, and walking at Sunset.